NOTE: In the event that the recipient has an existing provider and treatment plan, and the Crisis Stabilization provider is comfortable working with the existing provider, then an individual in on-going treatment may continue to see that provider while in respite or Crisis Stabilization. The existing provider would be working with the individual to provide continuity and support to get them back into their community setting as soon as possible. The existing provider could advise the crisis team to provide input, etc. However, Magellan/the Crisis Stabilization Provider should ensure that the existing treatment plan is sufficient and does not need to be modified as a result of the crisis being experienced by the child/adolescent. The existing provider cannot bill for crisis services/stabilization, and the Crisis Stabilization provider cannot bill for other behavioral health services as noted on the chart, above.
